Determine the colour of your barcode and its background

Sufficient colour contrast between the lines of the barcode and the background is necessary for optimal reading by the scanners. Use dark lines on light background. The scanner uses a red light beam and sees red as a light colour.