Showcasing the real people – and the real care – behind every product

MIKE&BECKY

- ☞ Single-origin chocolate-makers since 2016
- ☞ Cacao beans from 10 different plantations from around the world
- ☞ Roasting, winnowing, grinding, tempering in Anderlecht
- ☞ Members of GS1 since 2022
- ☞ 30 different chocolate products all with their own story

The Problem

- Our core value is origin transparency – we aim to exceed EUDR & provide full supply-chain visibility
- But it's difficult to demonstrate this without requiring effort and trust from the customer
- Packaging alone is static, non-dynamic, and impossible to verify – we are merely telling our customers
- We needed a simple, accessible way to show the origins of our ingredients

The Solution

Supply Chain Transparency

- ☐ GS1 already provides publicly available GLN information
- ☐ QR Code rules: one code per package, consistent across all packaging

→ Opportunity for a new solution

The screenshot shows the 'Verified by GS1' web application. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the GS1 logo, links for 'About', 'Standards', 'Services' (highlighted), 'Industries', 'Insights & Events', and a 'Get your barcodes' button. Below the navigation bar, the breadcrumb trail reads 'Home > Services > Verified by GS1'. The main heading is 'Verified by GS1' with a green checkmark icon. A subtext explains: 'Verified by GS1 makes it easy to search, look up and verify information about any barcode number (GTIN, UPC, EAN), location (GLN), company or other GS1 key (SSCC)'. Below this, there are four search options in a grid: 'Verify Product' (Search by Global Trade Item Number (GTIN)), 'Verify Location/party' (Search by Global Location Number (GLN)), 'Verify other keys' (Search by other keys), and 'Find company' (Search by company name and country). The 'Verify Location/party' option is highlighted with a dark blue background. Below the grid is a search input field with the placeholder 'Enter a Global Location Number (GLN)' and a 'Search' button. An example search value '9506000140445' is shown below the input field. At the bottom, a dark blue banner contains an icon of a monitor with gears and the text: 'Need to look up more barcodes or locations? Expand your search. Enterprise-level capabilities are also available for retrieving data such as batch querying and API connection. Contact your local GS1 office.'

What is ORTO?

- ☐ A mark of transparency where:
 - Every actor in the supply chain is visible
